~ Be The Maid ~

This cute, off the shoulder French Maid's uniform can be custom made to your measurements and could be accented with the addition of white lace cuffs on the wrists and a lace collar on the neck. The solid white traditional cap could also be enhanced or completely replaced with white lace.

A more traditional uniform look would be fully covered shoulders worn with a bib type apron.

Many interesting variations of hosiery can be worn with the maid's uniform depending on the effect the wearer wishes to create. Tights, of course, could be worn but in keeping with tradition, panties and a garter belt and stockings would be much more suitable!

Depending again on the desired effect, the wearer may wish to use a crinoline underneath the uniform.

Footwear is, of course, very important to the maid during her duties. The more traditional look of the block heel could be worn but for that sexy look always use a shoe with at least a 3 inch slender heel and consider accenting your ankles with shoes featuring a dainty ankle strap.

Please feel free to write or call us regarding your requirements. Well fitting custom made garments is our specialty with ideas limited only by your imagination

Joanne's visit from Ottawa!!!

Hi everyone! Just a little news about a very informal get-together we had with a sister from Ottawa on Oct 8/91. Joanne had popped in to visit Barbies shop on her way home from a west coast vacation and expressed an interest in meeting with our membership if possible before she started back again in a few days time. Barbie attempted to call as many of us as she could on short notice and about a dozen of us met with Joanne Tuesday evening. Joanne has been TVing publicly for a few years but continues to expand her horizons and her trip to the west coast was interesting as it was the first time she had flown anywhere and going as Joanne was a bonus. Her entire trip was as Joanne including her airline tickets, accommodations and shopping trips all with the help of Joanne's own credit card!

Joanne is very open with her lifestyle in Ottawa and is presently living with her daughter who has accepted her well. Joanne was very impressed with the Illusions concept and has said there is nothing like our club in the Ottawa area. At the present time she has about fifteen TV friends who she occasionally meets and they have been getting together at the homes of those friends but that has, she says, been a little awkward and she was really impressed by what we have accomplished with Illusions in only a short time.

The evening went quickly and it soon was time for us all to head home. Joanne was off to visit our Edmonton sisters the next day so before we all said our goodbyes she said how much she appreciated our taking the time to visit her and that Illusions was a tremendous inspiration to her and that when she returned home she was going to make a definite attempt at forming a similar organization. So, who knows, maybe we will see an Ottawa chapter soon!!

Good luck and best wishes to Joanne and all our Ottawa sisters from all of us at Illusions!

Optical "Illusion"

In putting together a wardrobe the goal with your clothing is to accentuate the positive and camouflage or cover up the negative. By creating an optical "illusion". You can practically reshape any part of your body just by selecting the right garments.

To start with, colour plays an important role in creating optical "illusion". Dark colours decrease size and light colours increase size. The colour can be applied to accessories as well. Light coloured shoes will make a narrow foot appear wider. If you have a larger than desired waistline and feel you must really wear a belt, try to stick with a darker thinner one or preferably one whose colour blends in with your outfit. Knowing what colours are best for you is important too-- not only for the look you project but for the way you feel. To get a general idea of which colours are right for you, drape a large solid piece of beige fabric next to your face- then replace it with a piece of white fabric. What's the overall impression do you receive??

If you look best in the beige fabric colour you probably have a warm coloured complexion- in the white colour a cool toned one. To determine whether a colour is warm or cool, see if it looks warm, glowing (not bright) and earthy. It's probably warm; if it looks cool sedate almost forestry in feeling- it's probably cool.

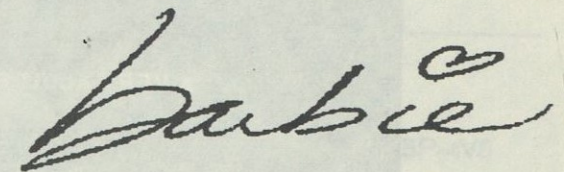

The second in optical "illusion" is "line". To look slimmer wear clothing that has vertical lines to it, instead of horizontal lines which tend to widen. Examples of vertical lines are vertical stripes and buttons; belts are horizontal lines. Square necklines will make a person appear larger busted; so will round necklines. However deep V necklines will usually make the bustline appear flatter. Necklines can also emphasize or disguise certain face shapes. For instance if you have a square face you'll want to stay away from square necklines. Instead wear more rounded necklines. If your face is long and narrow, you'll want to wear rounded necklines and minimize length. If your face is round, that's when a V neckline will help by adding length to your face.

Hemlines are another area where this concept applies. Generally the longer the hemline the slimmer you'll look. Lengths above the knee tend to cut you visually in two, therefore making you appear shorter and wider.

In the area of shoes, short heels will make slim legs look fatter and high narrow heels will make legs appear slimmer.

Accessories is the icing on the cake for the complete look. Remember to keep the colour of your accessories within the same colour family. If you are wearing gold coloured jewelry..don't mix it with silver.. it looks tacky!!

Be the best you can be. Keep on learning, changing, improving, practising and enjoying. You are Beautiful!!

AMBITIONS-----TO FIND AN UNDERSTANDING FEMALE

Hi my name is Colleen I am your Second Princess of Illusions for 91. I have recently been made an Executive of Illusions Edmonton. I am doing this profile now to express my thanks to some and to show to others how far you can come in a short time with good friends and help.

I would like to express my appreciation and deep thanks to the Illusions Social Club for getting me out of the closet and to where I am now close to having my dream come true, "Becoming a Passable Female". A little over a year ago I was stuck in the closet, being recently separated after my loved one discovered some clothes Stashed away. Having to make the decision of either throwing away all my clothes and desires or to explore my female self. Well guess what that decision was??? I found an ad in a magazine about Illusions and wrote to them and was contacted by Marsha in Edmonton and came to my first meeting at the old center when Edmonton was first starting its Chapter. Here I found the friends and support I needed I then made the "Grande Decision!!" I shaved off my moustache and went shopping!! With help and support of the new friends I made with the club here and Calgary I find myself a very happy and content persons {Spelling correct}. Now when I go out I am confident, poised, and dignified as any woman could be. Keep practising you can do it, I now have the best of both worlds!!

Fashion Show Report by Marsha

On November 14, 1991 Illusions Edmonton had a fashion show. The show was arranged and organized by Colleen. She in one of her shopping frenzies found a mail order service "Diana's Fabulous Fashions and W & D Enterprises who carry "Fredrics of Hollywood" fashions and others. Along with hose and makeup supplies.

Her fashion show was a great success with members of Edmonton for once out numbering Calgary. The members who modeled had a great time {a few rather nervous} and they were paid off in Lingerie and fashions. {Ohhhh what some ordered!!}

The fashions modeled by our members shows that this company can fill our needs and sizes well. It has come to this papers attention that in January 92 they will be opening a store on Stony Plain Rd. Well our many thanks to them and best wishes in there future store.

Hi everybody! A Party Report!!!

I thought you might like to hear how the "Dressing For Pleasure" night went Oct 26.

The Twisted Sisters put on a good production and had a good turn out for a first time event. Terry and Brenda MC'd the night and we were treated to a fantastic evening of hypnoco by Karen and Terry and her friends.

Much to my delight, an unexpected S&M oriented performance was provided by a few members of Club Calgary. I just loved the hot wax part!

I had the distinct pleasure of bringing a young female slave fittingly attired with leather cuffs, collar and multitudes of chain and wearing a costume that definitely had everyone's attention! Needless to say I had a great time parading my prize around for the evening!

As the evening progressed it appeared as though everyone was becoming more attuned to the theme of the night which was to enjoy your own particular fetish, and soon everyone was doing just that, within reason of course!

To finish off, this was a very special event for me as I know it was for others and I would encourage you all to consider attending the next one for something really different to do!

I would like to thank the Twisted Sisters, Club Calgary, Brenda, Karen, Terry and her friends, and anyone else I may have overlooked, for doing such a fine job and I look forward to another fetish night soon!

Mistress Anne

TV Shopping

By Dixie #204

Shopping from the closet for the crossdresser has its limitations. Mail-order generally takes longer than you'd like and a correct fit may not happen the first time or maybe never. Sears Teleshop is an excellent way to shop, except the catalogue pictures are not always what you expect. Shopping "off the rack" in town can be easy. Practically everything the crossdresser needs is available in town, at least in metro areas. This includes Fantasy wear, party wear, and your own creations. Approach seamstresses like Barbie, Stella, or Angel. For large shoes, see Crossland Shoes. There's Department stores, Ladies apparel shops, Second hand shops, Specialty shops, Boutiques and salons all willing to sell their products. To whom it doesn't matter as long as you are polite, discrete and in no way offensive for their regular clientele. It follows that the Ladies can find everything they need in these stores, then so can the Crossdresser with a little extra shopping tact. Overcoming the guilt and embarrassment is by no means insurmountable. I'll attempt to illustrate how you can develop your shopping skills so that you can accumulate the clothing, accessories and services you need to achieve your desired feminine image.

Before you can start shopping in public you must familiarize yourself with the size schedules. You should know that there are regular sizes (8-18), petite sizes, half sizes for the short and wide, mature sizes for the regular large ladies (36-44) and tall sizes. To determine your sizes is the best done by referring to the "TV Bible", the Sear's catalogue (summer and winter editions).

At the back of these catalogues are the magic pages with the sizes and their respective measurements. All you need is the clothier's tape, your desired bust measurement and desired hip measurement if you are going to pad the hip area. You may be a bit confused to start with as the male torso is larger than ladies and the hip area is smaller. Do not worry. Once you have a working knowledge of your sizes you'll see that these schedules are only guidelines. There will always be something that will fit you. In addition, these charts also have the formula determining your bra size on the basis of your rib-cage measurement and your desired bustline and desired cup size. There is even a foot chart giving you an indication of men's sizes related to ladies sizes.

To test out your size requirements from the chart, you can phone in an order on the Sear's teleshop for some inexpensive item (ie. a blouse, skirt, dress, whatever) Sear's has sales catalogues that offer lower priced goods. If the desired item doesn't fit, then you may return it un-used explaining that it fit a little loose or tight and you can try the next size up or down. You shouldn't be far out if you ordered according to the charts. Another good way to test your sizing is to go to a second hand clothing store. The prices are generally so low that you're not out much if the item didn't fit. If you have the nerve, you can try then on right there in the fitting rooms. Don't act like you are scared or embarrassed. Act like you know what you're doing. Carry the articles folded so no one will notice what they are. You can use either the ladies or men's fitting rooms. If you feel that somebody is on to you, don't panic, just carry on naturally. Nobody really cares; especially beyond that moment. When you go through the cashier just carry on naturally. The "A & N Boutique" (Army & Navy Stores) are set up well enough that you might try some fitting there. You can always find some inexpensive buys there.

And now armed with a working knowledge of the sizes you can start to do real TV shopping. You may not be totally up on the sizes but at least you should know enough to find yourself in the right department or store. Once you've mastered these following techniques of TV shopping, you may someday be doing your shopping "en femme". It's possible!

The first and simplest method let's call the Indirect Method. It's for someone else. It means that to appease your sense of guilt and embarrassment, you must dream up a lie. For instance, you may be telling the clerk or cashier "I'm looking for a birthday gift for my wife. I think it's a size 18 she needs." Once you've detected the item, you may want it in a gift box so as to enhance your story. And of course "If she doesn't like it, can it be returned?" The lies which you can fabricate are limitless. But they can always come back on you. Three months later, you may be buying your wife another birthday gift in the same store with the same clerk. They wouldn't care anyhow even if they remembered you.

Once you've learned that the clerks really don't care who it is for, you're ready for the Non-Committed Method. "I'm looking for a size 18 dress. Ohh, something in this style would be good. h)0*0*0*hope I've got the right size." By not indicating who it's for, you've eliminated the guilt of lying. Of course the clerk will assume he lie that it is indeed for someone else... feminine. Careful though, keep your story straight; be non-committal all the way through the act. Similarly, you might be looking for a particular style and size of pantyhose and to look through the racks and racks of selection could be unnerving to say the least. Approach a clerk and explained "I'm supposed to pick up a particular style and size of pantyhose." And really play the role "I'm just to embarrassed to look through all those shelves to find what I have to get." The clerk will, of course, understand your dilemma (assume the lie) and give you the assistance you need. You've gone one step further. Not only did you not say who its for, but you told a truth; you were embarrassed. After that episode you'll know where to look on the shelf the next time. Incidentally, a good way to pick up pantyhose is at the grocery store (ie. Safeway's, etc.) No one pays attention as they are rang through with the rest of the groceries.

Pursuing the truthful aspect a little further leads us to the Direct Method; "It's for me!" It requires confidence; guilt and embarrassment are out the door. As you are looking through some racks of dresses a clerk approaches and offers help. "Yes you may, I'm looking for a size 18 dress. I hope you're not offended but it's for myself. You see ... I am a crossdresser." You continue shyly but politely, "If you are offended I can leave. Would it be alright to try on these two dresses?"

The reaction will be anything from utter shock, to mild surprise to immediate total acceptance. If you present yourself timidly and politely the worst reception could be rejection in which case you leave apologetically. "Sorry, I hope you're not too offended." The important thing is for the store to make a sale. Most clerks are obliging; some are just helpful while others are enthusiastically helpful. They will carry the items to the fitting rooms for you and will check with you whether you need to try other sizes. When you come out leave everything there and tell the clerk your choice. They will take care of the rest. Of course, so as not to be a spectacle, choose a slower time when the store has fewer other customers. That way a clerk will be free to serve you and there are less people around to notice you. The clerks will do their best to make it a non-event so as not to offend any of the other customers. Once you've gone it may become an event; it helped spice up an otherwise dull day for them. Small ladies shops best suit this scenario, but I suppose it could work just as well in a department store atmosphere. And make no mistake, you are not the first crossdresser to have been through this store using this method.

The ultimate of TV shopping is of course doing so "en femme", a TV, TV shopping. It means that you have accumulated enough clothing, accessories and other TV skills that you are passable, in appearance at least. You can wander through the stores and malls browsing through the new fashions, comparing prices and taking advantages of any sales and clearance prices. Trying things on is no problem - you are playing the role. If you can't fake it all the way, explained that you are a crossdresser. The response will be much better than in the Direct Method - often times it's in disbelief. Your needs will be much more apparent to the clerk. And again you'll have spiced up her day. The added advantage to this method shopping is that you are using the power of illusion to protect your identity.

The threat of someone you know seeing you TV shopping is ever present. You have limited control over this. You can only work towards slightly reducing the odds. Daytime, weekday shopping will have most people out of the way at their jobs. Shopping in the other end of town reduces the risk slightly. Shopping out of town in a different metro area will give you about the best freedom for straight TV shopping. Keeping a mental inventory of where your immediate circle of "close ones" are can control "the when and the where" of safe shopping. All you can do is reduce the risk. In time you will develop a sense of when you should or shouldn't.

A final aspect of TV shopping should be mentioned here. When you require a goods or service from an establishment where personal attention is necessary, discretely phone beforehand. Explain your situation and needs and politely "If you are not offended could I possibly drop by or make an appointment?" If you make an appointment, keep it. For example, let's illustrate a fairly delicate situation. You have decided to purchase the expensive breast prostheses from the most practical place, a mastectomy shop (located under Surgical Supplies in the yellow pages). Again shyly and politely state you're situation and need over the phone. They will explain that they are aware of such a need and you may come down discretely and by appointment. Once there, you'll be astoundedh)0*0*0* the acceptance and service. Many such places (beauty salons, wig boutiques, cosmetic shops, tailors, etc.) all recognize that you exist and that you require their product. A polite explanatory call beforehand will determine how, when and if you may patronize their facility. If you are rejected, don't quit, let your "fingers do the walking" You'll get there!

In closing, I hope these techniques will help as a guide for attaining your goal of creating your feminine image. Be happy and satisfied with each little advancement. With each little success, you should have left a respectable impression behind you, so the next crossdresser along will get the same or better acceptance.

HAPPY TV SHOPPING!!!

A Year in Review

"Illusions - A Year In Review"

The past year has seen a considerable growth, both in the number of members and in the scope of the club. New members have brought in fresh ideas, while current members have expanded their horizons and sought new ways to develop their femme technique. In highlighting the past twelve months this is a summary of our activities.

January - A practical session on make-up was presented by Bryan

Callaghan. This was an opportunity to apply the techniques learned in session #1 and receive professional advice & critique. A presentation on wig care was given by Karen of "Salon 512" and much valuable information was available to those in attendance.

February - A regular social night. Nice to see a measure of improvement in many of our members make-up techniques. A great many of our members decided on having a girls night out at the "318 Club" after our regular club social. For a couple of members this was a new experience and very interesting.

March - Regular social. The usual girlish chit chat & small talk. Club membership increasing steadily.

April - Regular social. Always good to be a part of and interesting group as there is always someone to offer helpful hints & suggestions.

May - Again a regular social but planning & preparation is underway as June 15th has been set aside as the night of the "Gala Birthday Bash". A trial run for the sound set up and a demo by Marsha for the lip sync show took place.

June 15th - A Saturday to remember! The evening was best remembered by the Empress Pageant. An exciting experience and all who took part in it put on an excellent show. Birthday cake and gift exchange closed out an enjoyable evening.

June 27th - Back to the regular social format although the stories were still being told of the great time at the birthday party! The Calgary membership has surpassed the 100 mark, Edmonton membership about 40.

July - Another regular social. Attendance was relatively low. Rumors still abound that TVs and vampires have the same dislike: Daylight Hours!

August - Much of the month work was ongoing on the new club and new store premises. A dedicated group put in hours to have the Illusions "New Home" ready for a grand opening in mid September. End of August meeting was the last one held in the old club - the end of an era!

September 14th - Grand Opening of the new club. A showtime format that held with live music & lip sync performers. Once again there was great flare and imagination evident among the performers. Surprise Surprise! Could it be a Star is born?? Cute Karen becomes a centre fold! Well, almost, she made it to page 12!

September 26th - "Hooker Night"! Judges really had a tough time deciding but eventually Wendy took the prize for a very "Arresting" outfit. All the entrants were good and everyone had an enjoyable evening.

October 19th - Saturday social. Entertainment night. A quiet evening among friends, good natured chatter and generally cordial atmosphere. Many members decided on continuing the party spirit by having a girls night out at "Boys Town". Hmmm . . . sounds a bit odd, doesn't it!

October 26th - Dressing For Pleasure. Hosted by Twisted Sisters Productions. Entertainment featured professional female impersonators, a contingent from Club Calgary and one of our amateurs representing Illusions in lip sync. The change room was sometimes chaotic and always interesting as costumes were strewn about everywhere. Thanks Terri for co-ordinating a great show.

October 31st - Halloween!! Witches, Gremlins and black cats were the order of the night. We eventually got Anne de-clawed but that's another story from the Illusions Naked City where only the names have been changed to protect the innocent!

November 14th - Edmonton Birthday Party! A number of members from Calgary travelled up to assist with the celebrations of our Edmonton sisters. A fashion show and questionnaire on sensuality was included in the entertainment and several TV models displayed the fashions on hand.

November 16th - Saturday social night. Another quiet get together with a moderate attendance and the usual friendly atmosphere. Details were announced on the upcoming Christmas Pot-Luck supper, including the donations box for the food bank in lieu of a gift exchange among members.

At this time we would like to wish members old and new and friends not yet met a very Merry Xmas and a safe and prosperous New Year. We look forward to seeing you all at the Xmas pot-luck dinner and at socials in the new year.

Love, Barbie & Bree and our ghostwriter.
